Washington, D. C. 20515

Dear Colleague:

This is in response to your letter of October 6, 1985 with enclosure, in which you report the receipt of tangible gifts (two rugs) from a foreign government and request that this Committee waive the requirement that you specifically identify the donating country and individual. You indicate that your desire to provide only limited information concerning the gifts and the circumstances surrounding their acceptance arises from a concern that the requirement to identify the foreign government might adversely affect the United States' relations with that country. You also requested approval to display the gifts in your congressional office.

In recognition of the foreign policy sensitivities, the Committee views your disclosure to be a sufficient and good faith attempt to report the subject gift under the Foreign Gifts and Decorations Act, 5 U.S.C. §7342.

Finally, the Committee approved the enclosed Resolution authorizing you to display the gift rugs in your congressional office.

If you have any further questions concerning this matter, please contact the Committee staff at 225-7103.

Sincerely,

Julian C. Dixon
Chairman

MEMORANDUM

TO: The Honorable Andrew Jacobs, Jr.

FROM: Steven R. Ross SRR
General Counsel to the Clerk

SUBJECT: Whether Certain Communications are Properly Classified as "Official"

This memorandum addresses the "official" nature of public dissemination of information relating to the military service record of a prominent public figure, Marion "Pat" Robertson. It has been alleged in a lawsuit filed by Reverend Robertson that you received, from former Member Pete McCloskey, information relating to Robertson's duty assignments during the Korean War, and that you proceeded to furnish this information to the media. The question presented is whether such conduct is to be considered part of your official duties as a Member of Congress.

A review of both the factual situation presented and the relevant case law leads me to conclude that your actions are properly within the scope of your duties as a Member of Congress.

In recent years, the Congress in general, and yourself in particular, have engaged in a series of debates concerning the level of American military involvement in various international conflicts. One aspect of this debate has been the standing of various public officials and figures to comment on the desirability of committing United States troops to combat zones. See for example, 131 Cong. Rec. H. 2555-56 (daily ed. April 25, 1985). You have commented in floor debate and in the media that it might be wise, under certain circumstances, to take an individual's own military experience into account in weighing his advice to commit American soldiers to combat zones.

Participating in public discourse on matters of public policy has long been established as an important part of the job of a Member of Congress. Media comment and direct communication with constituents are invaluable mechanisms by which the Congress, as the people's elected representatives, inform the citizenry of issues of public concern. The judicial branch has recognized that such communications are within the outer perimeter of a Member's official duties and have, therefore, held such communications to be privileged from civil tort liability.

In a recent opinion dismissing a defamation action brought against one Member of the House for releasing the contents of a letter allegedly critical of an individual to the news media, the United States District Court for the District of Columbia reasoned that such public utterances were part of the official functions of a Member because:

> If this Court were to hold otherwise . . . it would act, in effect, as a restraint on the exercise of the duties by a legislative official in respect to matters > with wide public interest and concern, which would be far worse than a favorable expression on such matters and that if Congressman Sundquist, or any other Member of the body of which he is now a Member, were so restricted as the plaintiff's kinds of actions here would restrict them, then we would have very little information coming out from the members of Congress in the way of information involving broad-ranging public policies and, as a result, the public interest would suffer.

Oral argument, Chastain v. Sundquist, April 9, 1986.

This recent judicial expression is consonant with prior opinions of the federal bench. As Justice Hugo Black observed in concurring in the dismissal of a defamation suit brought against a public official for statements contained in a press release, "[t]he effective functioning of a free government like ours depends largely on the force of an informed public opinion. . . ." Barr v. Mateo, 360 U.S. 560, 577 (1959) (Black, J., concurring). The opinion of the Court in that case echoed this sentiment, "It would be an unduly restrictive view of the scope of the duties of a policy-making executive official to hold that a public statement of agency policy in respect to matters of wide public interest and concern is not action in the line of duty." Id. at 575.

The fact that actions designed to publicly disseminate information has not been accorded privileged status under the Speech or Debate Clause of the Constitution, Hutchinson v. Proxmire, 443 U.S. 111 (1979), does not render such actions non-official. The Supreme Court has recognized that a considerable portion of a Member's official duties fall outside the core of legislative actions, but well within the outer perimeter of the Member's sphere of official duties. "We would be closing our eyes to the realities of the American political system if we failed to acknowledge that many non-legislative activities are an established and accepted part of the role of a Member, and are indeed 'related' to the legislative process." United States v. Brewster, 408 U.S. 501, 512 (1972).

Perhaps most important is the fact that the House itself consistently treats participation in public debate, within and outside the halls of Congress, as a valid part of the function of a Member. The House has seen fit to provide Members with both staff and non-personal resources, such as use of the frank, printing services and the recording studio, designed to facilitate the participation by Members in public debate.

The above represents a cursory review of the relevant precedents. If it becomes necessary, I can expand on the support for my conclusion that these actions are official.

The Honorable Andrew Jacobs, Jr.
United States House of Representatives

Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Congressman Jacobs:

I am writing this letter to confirm that this law firm has offered to represent you in connection with a lawsuit filed against you by Marion Gordon (Pat) Robertson in the United States District Court for the District of Columbia alleging libel and conspiracy to defame. Our representation, if the offer is accepted, will be pro bono publico. Accordingly, we will charge no legal fees in connection with the representation.

The offer to represent you on this basis is made in furtherance of a stated policy of this firm recognizing pro bono representation "as a significant part of the normal and usual contribution of a responsible law firm to the public and to the legal profession." Attorneys Manual, Arent, Fox, Kintner, Plotkin & Kahn, Section 1.01. The lawsuit filed against you raises significant matters of public interest and public policy under the First Amendment. Specifically, the issues in the lawsuit will involve, inter alia, the privileges accorded to a Member of Congress under the Speech or Debate Clause of the Constitution; the right of a member of the public to communicate on a matter of public interest with a Member of Congress; and the scope and effect of the "actual malice" standard in libel cases applied to public figures, such as Mr. Robertson. We believe that the significance of these issues merits treatment of them under the pro bono policy stated above. Under our normal procedures, a proposal that we undertake pro bono representation must be submitted to the Professional Activities Committee, a standing committee of our partners for approval. That has been done in this case, and the committee has approved the representation for the reason stated above.

This firm has a long and active involvement in First Amendment issues. We represent several "media" clients in matters involving censorship, libel, and other "free speech" related issues. In addition, we have on several occasions undertaken pro bono representation in this area. Most recently, our firm represented on a pro bono basis the Reporters Committee for Freedom of the Press and the Radio Television News Directors Association in the filing of an amicus curiae brief in the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia with respect to Tavoulareas v. Washington Post, a pending major libel action. Our offer to represent you in this matter is consistent with, and a continuation of, our policy in these other instances of representation.

In accordance with the Code of Professional Responsibility, you would be expected to pay any expenses or out-of-pocket disbursements we might be required to expend on your behalf. In addition, we reserve the right to reconsider continued representation on your behalf in the event of an appeal taken in this case after a trial.

I understand that you will be submitting this letter to an appropriate committee of the House of Representatives for review of our offer. Please feel free to contact me if there is any further information I can provide.

Sincerely,

Thomas Schattenfield, Chairman

The Honorable Julian C. Dixon
Chairman
Committee on Standards of Official Conduct
U.S. House of Representatives
Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Chairman Dixon:

I write to request an advisory opinion from the House Committee on Standards of Official Conduct with respect to an offer of pro bono representation that I have received from a Washington law firm with respect to a recently filed lawsuit relating to certain of my official duties.

Specifically, I have been named as the defendant in a civil damages action sounding in common law defamation brought by Reverend Marion "Pat" Robertson before the United States District Court for the District of Columbia. The lawsuit, which I believe to be unfounded, complains of my receipt and public dissemination of certain information relating to Reverend Robertson. Essentially, the information described Reverend Robertson's experience in the Marine Corps and the bearing of that experience on his ongoing participation in the public and Congressional debate on the level of America's military commitment around the globe.

It is my desire to accept the offer of pro bono legal representation extended by the law firm of Arent, Fox, Kintner, Plotkin & Kahn. As evidenced by the enclosed letter from Thomas Schattenfield, a partner in the firm, the offer has been extended in strict accordance with the firm's normal policy respecting pro bono cases. You will also see that I have received a memorandum from the General Counsel to the Clerk of the House which concludes that the lawsuit relates to my official duties as a Member of the House.

Having discussed this matter with the General Counsel, I believe that the participation of the Arent, Fox law firm in my legal defense does not constitute the acceptance of a gift prohibited by Rule XLIII of the Rules of the House. According to the Ethics Manual for Members, such legal costs are not viewed as gifts subject to the limitation of Rule 43.

However, they are reportable under the Ethics in Government Act. Accordingly, I will, of course, publicly report the receipt of this pro bono representation on the appropriate Financial Disclosure Statements.

I ask for the Committee's view of, and I would hope concurrence in, my conclusion respecting this matter.

Sincerely,

Andrew Jacobs Jr.

Dear Colleague:

This is in response to your December 16, 1986, letter, with enclosures, in which you seek an advisory opinion regarding the propriety of an offer of pro bono representation from the Washington law firm of Arent, Fox, Kintner, Plotkin & Kahn in connection with a law suit filed against you by Reverend Pat Robertson. Your letter, with enclosures, indicates that it is the position of the Arent, Fox law firm that their participation on a pro bono basis would be consistent with recent litigation regarding such participation. Furthermore, a memorandum dated December 9, 1986, from Steven R. Ross, General Counsel to the Clerk, indicates Mr. Ross' position that the subject litigation is related to your official duties as a Member of Congress.

Based upon our review of your letter, with enclosures, we conclude that your acceptance of pro bono representation by the Arent, Fox law firm would not be improper and, in fact, would be consistent with prior opinions of this Committee regarding the establishment of so-called "legal defense funds"--the only difference being that the law firm's direct participation circumvents the need for soliciting the contributions and establishment of a legal defense fund.

However, as recognized in your letter, the value of pro bono representation that you would receive from the law firm should be quantified and reported on your appropriate Financial Disclosure Statement under the category of "gifts" pursuant to the Ethics in Government Act of 1978.

Should you have any further questions, please do not hesitate to contact the Committee staff at 5-7103.

Sincerely,

Julian C. Dixon

HAND DELIVERED

Chairman

Dear Mr. Chairman:

Attached please find an amended disclosure.

Regarding a minor item, Merrill Lynch CMA was redundantly reported as a holding in the 1985 disclosure when it in effect needn't have been reported in this fashion. It is the equivalent of a banking account from which interest is either earned or borrowings are made, rather than an equity holding, and should accordingly not be listed under either Part III Holdings or Part IV Transactions. It is referenced in Part V Liabilities in the 1986 disclosure.

Sincerely,

Jim Leach

Dear Mr. Anderson:

Through an error of oversight I exceeded the yearly congressional honoraria limit by $1,070.00, including $400.00 of the $2,400.00 honorarium I received from Vassar College on March 27, 1986 that I should have donated to charity in a more timely manner. To correct these deficiencies, on May 15, 1987, I made a personal donation of $1,070.00 to The Hester House, a charitable organization in Houston.

I also inadvertently omitted certain information relating to my "Holdings" and my spouse's liabilities that were required to be disclosed on my 1986 Financial Disclosure Statement. The "Holdings" and "Liabilities" sections of my original Statement, filed May 15, 1987, are amended as follows:

III HOLDINGS

IDENTITY	CATEGORY
Bistro on the Boulevard - Houston	A
Houston Can Company - Houston	A

V LIABILITIES

IDENTITY	CATEGORY

Please contact me by telephone or in writing if you have any questions concerning this amendment.

Sincerely,

MICKEY LELAND
Member of Congress

Dear Donn:

In my report filed May 14, 1987, there is a reference in Section II under Unearned Income to my CMA Account with Merrill Lynch. Over the weekend it occurred to me that the principal in the CMA account also should have been listed under Section III, Holdings.

Therefore, this letter will serve as a clarification of and amendment to my 1986 Ethics report so that under Section III, Holdings there is included CMA Account, Merrill Lynch, Category E. It is a composite of two other items included elsewhere in my report (the proceeds from the sale of my one-third interest in the condominium in LaJolla, CA, and the legal fee earned prior to my service in Congress, paid in 1986).

Sincerely,

Sander L
